THOMAS & FRIENDS

Thomas & friends

+3

Thomas and friends is a British children's cartoon series. It is based on a book series called The Railway Series created by reverend Wilbert Vere Awdry. It is about a group of trains and vehicles who live on the fictitious island of Sodor. The books are based on the stories Awdry told his son Christopher to entertain him while he recovered from the measles. A lot of the stories are based on events from Awdry's personal experience.

Fireman Sam

+3

Fireman Sam is a Welsh television programme for children about a fireman called Sam, his fellow firemen and the people of a fictitious Welsh town called Pontypandy. Two ex-firemen from Kent had the original idea of the show. It first aired in 1985 and has evolved to the present day. Pontypandy is now a coastal fishing town instead of a town in the mountains as it was in the earlier series.

DORAEMON

Doraemon

+3

Doraemon is one of the most famous, successful manga and anime series of all time, so much so that it has never been off air in Japan. The name Doraemon comes from the fusing of the name of typical little Japanese cakes filled with sweet bean paste, Dorayakis. Doraemon is a robot cat from the 22nd Century who is sent back in time by a young man called Sewashi Nobi to improve the circumstances of his great-great-grandfather, Nobita, so his descendants can enjoy a better future.

The AMAZING WORLD OF GUMBALL

Gumball

+3

The amazing world of Gumball tells the story of a "normal" urban family living in an extraordinary town. In the centre of this family is Gumball, an excitable, optimistic blue cat with an amazing ability to get into trouble. In each episode, Gumball and his best friend, Darwin, experience normal situations which for some strange reason end up getting out of control, whether it be at home or at school.
